

State Budget Categories

State law requires all counties and Baltimore City to appropriate and record expenditures for education in accordance with standardized state budget categories. This is so the Maryland State Department of Education may collect and compare data on local education spending from across the state. These state budget categories are generally based on broad functional classifications such as administration, instructional costs, special education, and student transportation. Effective for FY 1998, the state required the use of two new categories—mid-level administration and textbooks and instructional supplies.

The following tables display actual, budgeted, and recommended funding by state budget category. Listed on the right are the current state budget categories.
